

Island Forest Closing

Weather Cooler
But Danger High

B.C. Forest Service, facing cooler weather but no actual relief from the mounting fire hazard on Vancouver Island, today announced that the Sayward Forest District will be closed to travel, except by permit, at midnight Friday.

Also to be closed is the Bear Creek district near Princeton. These are the first forest closures imposed this year by the forest service.

Officials state the weather throughout B.C. gives little promise of easing the mounting danger, but they do not anticipate a repetition of last year's disastrous fire season that kept forests closed for almost two months.

To date 33 fires are burning in the province, with 216 men at work.

Forest Service officials at Langford reported only one new fire overnight, that covered a quarter-acre at Theis Lake. It was contained handily by a suppression crew from the ranger station using a pump, and was expected to be fully controlled today.

A 30-acre fire on Mt. Wells, near Glen Lake, is on a patrol basis with 30 men patrolling the fireguards. Fires at Cowichan Lake, Nanaimo, and Upper Campbell Lake also are contained.

THERMOMETER DOWN

The sun shone just as brightly as ever over the city today but the temperature was much lower than for the last few days.

Relief from the intense heat was attributable to a cooling southwesterly breeze which has fanned the city with moist air since Wednesday afternoon.

Official temperature reading for the city at noon was a refreshing 68 degrees. On both Tuesday and Wednesday the mercury had climbed to the 84-degree mark.

The weatherman maintains warm and clear weather is here for a while longer but gives assurance that the southwesterly breeze will remain, too, and there-by check on thermometer mercury.

Aid to Reds Costs Clerk Five Years

LONDON, July 10 (CP)—William Marshall, 24, a Foreign Office clerk, today was sentenced to five years in prison for passing confidential information to a Russian agent.

The jury had asked for the "utmost leniency" for the 24-year-old Marshall, who could have been sentenced to a maximum of 14 years on each of the four counts. "We feel he has been led astray," the jury said before Judge Sir Patrick Barry pronounced sentence.

Marshall, who said he was a "misfit" in the British Embassy in Moscow when he was stationed there, declared "I am still innocent."

Judge Barry said he would have been inclined to pass a longer sentence had not the jury recommended leniency.

Officer Given Two Years for Army Thefts

PEMBROKE, Ont., July 10 (CP)—Maj. Allan Ross Elmer, of the Royal Canadian Regiment, today pleaded guilty to six charges of theft in connection with large-scale stealing of equipment at nearby Petawawa military camp. He was sentenced to two years in penitentiary.

The 35-year-old native of Kingston, Ont., was commissioned in the army in 1941.

The third—and most senior—army man to be charged in connection with the Petawawa thefts, Maj. Elmer was arrested in Pembroke a few hours before he appeared in court.

Sleek, beautiful Ss. United States today set course for home, but skipper, Commodore Harry Manning, was uncertain whether attempt would be made for westbound Atlantic speed record. The new ship won blue ribbon for crossing in three days, 10 hours, 40 minutes. Attempt at record dash will depend on weather.

Workers Face Searing Heat at Mine Disaster

Bodies of Six Miners Recovered by Rescuers After Coal Pit Explosion

GLACE BAY, N.S., July 10 (BUP)—Grim draegermen endured choking dust and blistering heat today to bring up the bodies of six miners killed Wednesday night in a deafening explosion as they toiled in a colliery three miles under the sea.

The explosion rocked all of Glace Bay, a smoky city of 30,000 that likes to call itself "the big, best town in Canada." Residents by the hundreds raced for the pit-head of the mine.

"It was just as if the earth had shrugged its shoulders," said Gordon Greene, one of the electrified residents.

Draegermen, a coaltown term for rescuers who specialize in underground disasters, used shovels and pick-axes and bare hands in "stupefying" heat to clear away the tons of rock and rubble that hid the bodies of the miners trapped and killed by the searing blast.

They found one man still alive but in agony from third-degree burns. He was identified as Herbert Desmond, brother of one of the victims, and was lifted from the smouldering disaster scene and rushed to hospital. Doctors said his condition was critical.

The explosion ripped through the main shaft of the Dominion

Second Tragedy This Year

It was the second mine disaster in Nova Scotia this year. Nineteen miners died at Stellarton Jan. 14 when gas exploded in the McGregor pits.

The worst such disaster occurred at Springhill, N.S., in 1951, when 125 miners perished in a blast in the hollow deeps.

The scene at the pit-head of Colliery No. 20 today was grim and eerie. No customary warning whistle had shrieked out news of the mine accident to the townsfolk; the explosion had alerted all.

Six ambulances sped to the scene with medical supplies, doctors and skilled first-aid workers. They lined up at the pit-head under searchlights and automobile headlights and worked to clear a path through the shaft's crumpled entrance for the draegermen to start down on their long fight to reach the buried victims.

Twenty-five miners had been working above ground at the time of the blast. Michael Choris, one of them, said there was

BLOWN TO BITS

Grim Stories Told by Mine Survivors

GLACE BAY, N.S., July 10 (CP)—Rescue workers at the scene of Wednesday night's mine disaster that took the lives of six men told grim stories today.

"Everything was blown to pieces, including the timber used to prop up the working area," said one worker. "We found the Desmond brothers together. Billy on top, was dead and Herby underneath was alive. He talked to us as we brought him to the surface."

"We found the driver, Buddy Bonar, near the coal box he was handling. The two horses he had were found dead, blown quite a piece away from the accident. Billy Blake—he was the shot firer—was found in one room and overman John Harris in another."

Don McLelland, 50, a veteran of 33 years in Cape Breton's submarine mines which slope for miles under the ocean, was among the first to reach the scene.

Movie Lot Fire Damage Will Run Into Millions

BURBANK, Calif., July 10 (AP)—The second disastrous fire in less than two months whizzed across the Warner Brothers movie lot Wednesday. Studio spokesman roughly estimated damage at $4,500,000 to $6,000,000.

Spectators who remembered the May 16 blaze had that feeling they got at the movies: This is where we came in.

The fire swept in a giant arc through 25 studio back-lot acres, destroying nine streets of scenery ranging from Norwegian to Canadian. It razed a storage shed containing a collection of some 2,000 acting props—Robin Hood crossbows, mummy cases, roulette tables, horsehair sofas, spears, swords.

It gutted a corrugated iron hangar housing an undetermined number of planes used in movie scenes. Wind-driven embers leaped a street and burned 200 acres of scrub oak and brush on a nearby mountainside.

Canada Gives U.S. Lesson, Says Paper

BOSTON (BUP)—The Boston Daily Record says Canada keeps a "tight, sweet house" compared with the "sloppy, lazy, unkempt" United States.

The newspaper, editorially echoed a statement by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce that Canada is giving the United States "a real lesson" in many fiscal fields. It lauded Canada for balancing its budget, cutting taxes on personal income, curbing inflation and reducing the national debt.

On the other hand, The Record said, the United States, "under Truman, the all-time, all-global spender and taxer, has been like the premises of some sloppy, lazy, unkempt slattern. Americans naturally feel some slight sense of char-grin over Canada's better-kept house, but, sportingly, no sense of resentment.

"They just wish we could do likewise."

The newspaper also congratulated Canadians for virtually destroying Communist control in labor unions, particularly the A.F.L. United Textile Workers of America which ended a three-month strike against the Dominion Textile Company in Montreal and Valleyfield.

Republicans' Vote May Come Tonight

Eisenhower Supporters Claim Victory Certain

Compiled From A.P. and U.P. Dispatches

CHICAGO, July 10—More and more "I Like Ike" Republicans climbed aboard the rampaging Eisenhower bandwagon today, bound for a possible G.O.P. presidential ballot tonight at the party's convention here.

Jubilant supporters of the General were claiming that it was all over but the voting as a result of Eisenhower's decisive edge on the turbulent floor battle with Ohio's Sen. Robert Taft, his chief opponent for the nomination, at Wednesday night's session over contested delegates from Georgia and Texas.

This morning the support for Eisenhower continued to increase. Three uncommitted delegates—two from Arizona and one from Alabama—climbed aboard the careening bandwagon.

With their declaration, the Associated Press tabulation of delegates standing was: Eisenhower, 517; Taft, 486; others, 110 and still uncommitted, 93. Nomination requires 694 votes.

Maxwell Taft was conceding nothing. He said: "I expect to be nominated on an early ballot."

And supporters of Earl Warren and Hubert H. H. Stassen said they still saw a chance for an Eisenhower-Taft deadlock that could deny the nomination to either of the two front-runners.

The big decision may come tonight. Convention managers mapped out a schedule which left that possibility.

In the wake of last night's rough and tumble session, there was more talk about Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Some Taft supporters were saying privately that MacArthur

'Traitors... in High Places'

CHICAGO, July 10 (AP)—Republicans today accused the present Democratic administration of corruption and of shielding "traitors to the nation in high places."

This blistering attack came in the campaign platform handed to the Republican National Convention for expected approval during the day.

Attacks on the administration's "sordid record of corruption" overshadowed hard-fought compromises on the foreign policy, national defense and civil rights planks.

Only the "civil rights" plank—dealing with the touchy issues of racial discrimination—caused some fears of a possible floor fight.

Senator Eugene D. Millikin of Colorado, chairman of the group that shaped the document, told a reporter he expects quick convention approval.

In general, the related foreign policy and defense planks had been approved in advance by Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—President Truman viewed Wednesday's Republican uproar in Chicago with obvious relief.

"They did all the quarreling, they could," he said after viewing convention scenes on television at the White House.

Truman said one thing worried him: "It looks like my favorite candidate is going to get beat." The President often has called Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio his "favorite" candidate for the Republican presidential nomination because he believes he would be easiest to beat in November.

and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, presidential nomination.

These planks belabored the Democrats on foreign policy, saying "they swing erratically from timid appeasement to reckless blunder."

The document promised that Republicans will seek "an honorable, just peace" that would bring hope to those now imprisoned under Communist domination.

On national defense, the Republican platform promised a quick build-up to "completely adequate power," something Taft has stressed.

OTTAWA LIFTS SHIPPING BAN ON SASKATCHEWAN'S CATTLE

Effective from today, all restrictions on the movement of livestock into B.C. from Saskatchewan have been removed. Only exception to the order from Ottawa is on movement of "ruminants and swine or meats" from quarantine and buffer areas of Saskatchewan.

Dr. W. R. Gunn, livestock commissioner, announced the lifting of the embargo.

Major Projects Suffer Setback

B.C. Political Uncertainty Hits Road, School Construction

By GORDON FORBES

British Columbia's vital highway development program is expected to be set back an entire year, and the province's new school construction "seriously retarded" because of the current cloud of political uncertainty.

The political hiatus, which has slowed the wheels of government to a crawl, will also have a detrimental effect to a lesser degree on new hospital construction.

The provincial public works department, hardest hit by the lack of effective government, is being forced to stand by and watch most of its 1952 plans crumble.

The works budget this year is about $26,000,000, and included a large appropriation for major highway construction.

The works department was getting ready to let contracts for the biggest chunk of the work when the Liberal administration toppled, and B.C. entered a period of political uncertainty.

Within 48 hours after the first election count, Premier Byron Johnson instructed all departments to refrain from embarking on any major projects because his government had no mandate.

BUILDING SEASON

The works program has suffered the most because through-out B.C. the road construction season is confined to June, July and August.

This entire season may be lost, because it may be the end of July before a new government is formed, and several weeks would be required to call and let tenders on big projects after that.

Thus, hopes of any major highway work this year are dim. Businessmen and industrialists consider the situation serious because of the importance of highways to the province's development.

Work on many secondary roads, for which there was a special $2,000,000 appropriation this year, is continuing because most of the jobs are small.

Meanwhile, education department officials are worried about the delay in new school construction, also brought about by the political picture. Numerous projects cannot be started until a new government is installed.

The delay, officials predict, will mean some schools in the province will have to resort to the "shift system" because anticipated new schools will not be ready by September.

Still in the race but facing defeat is Emil Schafer, Social Credit, who with 5,478, who will be dropped and his votes transferred to the other two.

On ballots transferred so far from Conservative F. W. Taylor, Wismer had picked up 1,223, Jamieson 443 and Schafer 578, with 1,388 exhausted.

PROVINCIAL VOTE

Point Grey Seat Switches To Socreds

PARTY STANDINGS
Elected	Leading
S.C.	16 4
C.C.F.	16 2
Liberal	6 0
P.C.	2 1
Labor	1 0

A Social Credit, Thomas Bate, forged into the lead in a ballot, Vancouver-Point Grey, today as the second count of ballots was completed. He took the lead from A. R. MacDougall, P.C., by 17,644 to 14,685. Third is T. R. Burnett, Liberal, 14,595. Counting continues.

The closest battle of the prolonged election count is being waged on B ballot in Vancouver Burrard riding—one of the key seats which may finally settle the question of whether the Social Credit maintains its edge over the C.C.F. party in house membership.

With more than half the final count completed (147 out of 256 polls), Social Credit Bert Price retained a meagre 44-vote margin over the veteran C.C.F. Grant MacNeil.

The totals were Price 12,150; MacNeil 12,106.

Ballots previously held by J. G. Gould, Liberal, were being transferred and of these Price had taken 1,398 and MacNeil 1,009.

On the A ballot, Eric Martin, Social Credit, was slowly pulling away from C.C.F. Alex MacDonald. The totals to date are Martin 12,286; MacDonald 11,813.

The undecided seat in Vancouver Centre, Ballot B, showed Attorney-General Gordon Wismer pulling up slightly on the C.C.F.'s Mrs. Laura Jamieson, who leads with 7,899 more than three-quarters of the way through the fourth count (174 of 200 polls) to Wismer's 6,730.

Still in the race but facing defeat is Emil Schafer, Social Credit, who with 5,478, who will be dropped and his votes transferred to the other two.

On ballots transferred so far from Conservative F. W. Taylor, Wismer had picked up 1,223, Jamieson 443 and Schafer 578, with 1,388 exhausted.

U.N. Troops Take Toll in Korea Battles

SEOUL, Korea, July 10 (AP)—United Nations soldiers killed or wounded at least 336 Communists Wednesday and early today in sharp, small-scale actions along the 135-mile Korean battle front, the United States Eighth Army reported.

Allied casualties were not estimated, but briefing officers said they were low.

Overcast skies dampened the ground fighting and limited the air war to bomb strikes against the Reds' North Korean supply system. Allied light bomber pilots reported they destroyed 21 Communist supply vehicles. B-29 superforts Wednesday night blasted the Huichon rail yards on the main Communist supply route from Manchuria.

An outnumbered Allied patrol came out almost unscathed after engaging about 100 Chinese soldiers south of Pynonggang on the west-central front. A briefing officer estimated 15 Reds were killed and nine wounded.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

LOCAL BOY AND "LILI"

I SUPPOSE you could call it a new variation on the old theme, "Local boy makes good." But, until I read it in an eastern newspaper, I had not realized that Peter Stursberg, of Victoria, who started his career as a reporter on this newspaper, was largely instrumental in seeing to it that "Lili Marlene," the lady who still may be waiting underneath the lamp-post, is destined for posterity.

According to Gerald Clark, columnist in the Montreal Star, it was Stursberg who, when acting as Canadian correspondent in Sicily in the Second World War, first exported to the western hemisphere the wistful German song which made such a hit with the Allied troops.

BALLAD'S HISTORY

IT MAY be well here to digress for a moment to recall the strange history of this ballad. It was written in Germany in the middle 1930's by Hans Leip, with music by Norbert Schultze, the title being inspired by the first names of two of Leip's girl friends, Lili and Marlene. But it gained little popularity in Germany.

Then war came. At Belgrade, the German army established a broadcasting station for troops in the Balkan and African sectors, one of the features including recordings of old songs. "Lili Marlene" was among them, and immediately appealed to the troops, reminding them nostalgically of the girls they used to meet "underneath the lamp-post."

SUNG BY DANE

THE BALLAD quickly became the theme song of Radio Belgrade and was sung and whistled by the troops that listened to it. But the Nazis, while monitoring the Belgrade broadcasts, recognized the voice as that of Lale Anderson, a Danish-born singer with known anti-Nazi sentiments. So they immediately forbade the playing or singing of "Lili Marlene."

However, by this time Rommel's Afrika Korps was fighting its way through the Sahara desert. Despite the Nazi ban, they adopted "Lili Marlene" as their marching song.

IN THE STILL of the desert night, troops of the British Eighth Army could hear the refrain, night after night, so intrigued were they with the tune that they adopted it, too—supplying their own English version of the lyrics and using it as a marching song.

Having two enemy armies singing the same air was considered bad for morale and apt to cause confusion. So a British order also barred the troops from singing that particular song. But that did not detract from the sentimental affinity the Eighth Army had for "Lili Marlene," and they planned to sing it as they marched down the gangplank into England on their return.

AMERICANS, TOO

IN THE MEANTIME, the Americans, too, fell for the lone-some lady who waited underneath the lamplight. When they returned to Britain, ahead of the British, they took the song with them and all England soon resounded to the catchy refrain. And when the Eighth Army finally arrived home, they were greeted at the docks by army bands playing the favorite air.

But to go back to Peter Stursberg's association with the mournful heroine. According to the Montreal Star columnist, the former Victorian was with the Canadians in the campaign in Sicily when he overheard some Italian peasants singing "Lili Marlene."

CAPTURED FOR CANADA

KNOWING THAT, although the German and British troops had been singing the tune no one had ever really caught it, Stursberg got together a four-piece band, set up a recording unit and beamed the song to Canada. Somewhere en route, the BBC picked up his broadcast and put it on the air for British listeners.

Now his recording of "Lili Marlene," is permanently established in the official archives of Ottawa, among other souvenirs of Second World War. And Victoria may well share in a sense of pride that this former Times reporter, who is heard regularly over the air as CBC's observer at United Nations headquarters at New York, was responsible for perpetuating for posterity the spirit of this unique wartime ditty.

School Leaders Help Drug Probe

Vancouver Authorities Continue Drive on Juvenile Delinquency

VANCOUVER, July 10 (CP)—Chief Constable Walter Mulligan has asked Vancouver school authorities to be on the look-out for any signs of juvenile narcotic taking when school resumes in September.

LACK OF STEEL

U.S. Strike Threatens Alberta

EDMONTON, Alta., July 10 (BUP)—The United States steel strike today threatened to paralyze many multi-million-dollar projects in Alberta if it continued much longer.

J. K. Jamieson, director of the Trans-Mountain Pipeline Co., said work on the $82,000,000 oil pipeline from Edmonton to Vancouver "will have to be suspended if this U.S. strike lasts much longer."

He said the 693-mile, 24-inch pipeline would require more than 160,000 tons of steel to complete. Already "substantial" stocks were on hand, Jamieson said, but vast quantities were still needed to ensure the pipeline would be ready by the fall of 1953.

Another major Alberta project, the $54,000,000 Canadian Chemical Co. plant on the outskirts of Edmonton, also was in danger of being slowed down through lack of steel. Manager Vincent Annyl said construction work has not been affected so far, "but if the U.S. steel strike lasts too long it will delay completion of the plant."

Provincial government officials said the U.S. steel walkout had created no wage disputes or mass layoffs in Alberta, but the construction boom was slowing down and many workers might be affected in the future.

This decision, which will involve constant attention by teachers, nurses and doctors during the fall term, was one result of a meeting Wednesday between the chief, Attorney-General Gordon Wismer and City Prosecutor Stewart McMorran.

A second decision, contained in a joint statement by the chief and attorney-general, was that the juvenile narcotic probe will be pushed to the limit.

"I have instructed my men that there should be no let-up. Everyone connected with this case will be arrested and charged," said the chief.

Attorney-General Wismer indicated that he considers the current probe one of the most important in the long history of narcotic actions in the city.

Overnight developments included charging of a 28-year-old seaman, James P. (Blackie) Mason, no fixed address, with "giving or supplying a substance represented to be a narcotic" to a person, in this case, a 16-year-old girl.

SHOCKED POLICE

Mr. Wismer congratulated police for prompt action in the case, which has shocked parents and police officers themselves.

"I'm glad because it has apparently been nipped in the bud," he said. "If this traffic had gone on for another month or so, it could have spread like wildfire."

In a review of the drug case on a report compiled by prowler officers Frank Hill and Angus Macdonald, Chief Mulligan revealed that 20 juveniles have been interrogated by police, 16 persons have been arrested, and 11 charged with selling or giving

HUGE SUN SPOT THREATENS LONG-RANGE RADIO RECEPTION

LONDON, July 10 (Reuters)—Greenwich Observatory today reported a huge sun-spot is developing which threatens to upset long-range radio communications.

Officials said it covers an area of more than 1,000,000,000 square miles, equivalent to about 20 times the cross-section area of the earth. They said it will be visible to observers early next week, looking like a pinhead when viewed through dark glasses.

The spot was first noticed on the edge of the sun's disc Wednesday and should reach the centre by Tuesday.

Mutinous Guelph Prisoners Spend Uncomfortable Night

GUELPH, Ont., July 10 (CP)—by order of Reform Minister Foote.

Some 350 prisoners Wednesday night spent their fifth and "most uncomfortable" night in their open compounds since the Ontario reformatory here was rocked by a destructive riot Saturday night.

Following a supper of beans, bread and tea, the men huddled in blankets as the temperature dropped to 55 degrees.

Some 100 of the "more co-operative" prisoners, also lodged in the compound following the riot, Wednesday were returned to the main building to help clean up cell blocks and repair furniture, plumbing and plaster. Damage was estimated at $200,000.

Some 25 men are expected to be charged in connection with the riot.

Reformatory Superintendent Gerald Wright would make no comment on the cause of the riot. He said the secrecy was imposed

Ridgway Visits Queen

LONDON, July 10 (Reuters)—Special precautions against demonstrators were taken when Gen. Matthew Ridgway, new supreme Allied commander, drove today with his wife to Buckingham Palace to see the Queen.

Detectives mixed with a small crowd while the car, escorted by police, entered the palace by a gate normally reserved for the Royal Family.

There was no demonstration. When the general arrived Wednesday a handful of Communist demonstrators broke through the police cordon and scattered leaflets headed: "Britons never shall be slaves."

Seven men arrested there were

HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE

Condensed from CP, AP, and UP Dispatches

FIRST—In Washington, the American Air Force says the first trans-Atlantic crossing by helicopter will be attempted next week, from the Westover air base in Massachusetts, to Wiesbaden, Germany. Extra gas tanks are being installed on two Sikorsky H-19 helicopters, which are expected to make the 4,000-mile trip in about 40 hours flying time.

VIOLATION—A brief, but vicious storm which hit the Regina area late Wednesday was accompanied by lightning, and one city resident reported a bolt of lightning ripped a hole five feet long and two feet wide in the roof of his home.

Mike Kalpen was alone in the house at the time and escaped without injury. He said that although a smell of sulphur was evident after the bolt blasted through the roof, the building did not catch fire.

EXHAUSTED—Quadruplets have proved too much for Silas Pinkham. The 45-year-old Standish, Maine, carpenter is in a hospital at Portland with his wife and their four new babies this morning. He is suffering from nervous exhaustion.

Pinkham—who had continued working after his wife Elizabeth gave birth to the quads Monday—was visiting her Wednesday night when he was stricken ill.

The doctor says he is going to keep Pinkham in the hospital for several days under mild sedatives.

BLAMED—In Vancouver frozen smelt fed to the 12 rare King penguins in Stanley Park Zoo was blamed today for causing the death of one of the Antarctic birds.

The penguins arrived last week after a 5,000-mile trip from the Falkland Islands and were in good shape until Monday. They are the only King penguins in captivity in North America.

Dr. Richard Drew, a veterinarian, reported that one bird had died Wednesday, a second was not expected to live, and the other 10 were "very sick."

"GOOD"—A construction worker, William Thomas, was in "good" condition this morning in Vancouver general hospital following a mercy flight last night from the Kemano project up coast.

Thomas was operated on for an arm injury after he was flown out by B.C. Central Airways. He was injured in a blasting accident at the multi-million dollar construction job.

FREIGHT?—N. E. Tunbridge of Vernon was waiting today for an explanation from the post office for the reason it took 43 days for a letter to be delivered 50 miles from Kamloops.

Tunbridge said the letter, postmarked May 9, reached him June 21. He told the Vernon Board of Trade he was "very upset" about the matter, and had sent a vigorous protest to the postmaster-general.

Gunnery School's Move Unconfirmed

Reports that the local army school for coast and air-ack artillery will be moved to Pictou, Ont., were not confirmed today by army officials, but indications in the discussion stages.

"There's nothing official on such a move," said Maj. J. T. E. McNeill, Work of Pictou Barracks, administration officer.

'Home is the Sailor'

His duffle bag bulging with gifts and his heart filled with happiness, Leading Seaman Roy Walliere came home in H.M.C.S. Athabaskan Wednesday, after nearly a year of duty in the Korean war zone.

Like most of the ship's officers and men, Roy was met by his "nearest and dearest." Shown greeting him are Mrs. Walliere and their 2½-year-old daughter, Tish. (R.C.N. photo.)

240 Nominated for Quebec Election

QUEBEC, July 10 (CP).—Some 240 candidates have been nominated officially for the July 16 Quebec election.

As nominations closed Wednesday in 88 of the Province's 92 constituencies—the lists closed earlier in four other out-of-the-way ridings—the total included 92 Liberals, 91 Union Nationale, 23 C.C.F., four Labor-Progressives and 30 others.

The list of 240 compared with the 312 candidates who contested the last election in 1948 and 338 who ran in 1944. The Union Nationale won both of those elections.

The C.C.F., which ran in seven constituencies in 1948 and lost in all, is concentrating most of its strength in Montreal ridings. The Labor-Progressive party has all of its four candidates running in that city.

Premier Duplessis, seeking reelection in Three Rivers, which he has represented since 1927, is opposed by Mayor J. A. Monro, who has been winning prominence as a Liberal spokesman since the campaign opened.

Georges Lapalme, Liberal leader chosen in 1950, is making his first bid for a provincial seat in Joliette, the home ground of Labor Minister Antonio Barrette. Mr. Lapalme formerly represented the federal riding of Joliette-L'Assomption-Montcalm in the House of Commons and resigned to become provincial Liberal leader.

Mrs. Therese Casgrain, contesting her first election as Quebec C.C.F. leader, is opposed by four other candidates in Montreal Verdun, including Lionel Ross, Liberal, who held the seat in the last legislature, and Buddy O'Connor, Union Nationale, former centre with Montreal Canadiens and New York Rangers of the National Hockey League.

The Union Nationale did not nominate a candidate for Quebec County, represented in the last legislature by Rene Chalout, Nationalist. However, Dr. Leopold Larochelle listed himself as an "unofficial Union Nationale" candidate.

3 FISHERMEN DROWNED IN ALASKA STORM

8 Others Missing As 9 Boats Lost

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, July 10 (BUP).—Three fishermen were dead and eight others missing and presumed lost today as the result of a storm which sank nine two-man boats in Alaska's Bristol Bay salmon fishing area.

The three bodies were recovered. It was believed the victims came from San Francisco.

Reports received in Anchorage said the fishermen were harvesting the heaviest run of the season when the storm started Friday and they decided to stay out despite the danger because of the good hauls.

The storm was so severe that some boats were driven more than 100 miles from their usual fishing grounds. Some men were knocked overboard from the small boats and were picked up by heavy power barges in the vicinity.

A fleet of fishing boats began the search after the storm died down Saturday. One of the skippers said they would comb the area for possible survivors "as long as there is any hope of finding them."

The Test of Liberalism

THE POLARIZATION OF BRITISH Columbia politics between the extreme right of Social Credit and the extreme left of C.C.F. socialism presents the Liberal party with great dangers but with great opportunities also. The future of the Liberal party will depend on its ability to face those dangers and to grasp those opportunities.

To any political party which lives on a set of principles the loss of office is not very important, for such a party's purpose is not mainly to hold office but to advocate its principles. Opposition, in fact, is the cleansing tonic which keeps parties healthy, from which they return in due time with increased strength. So far as the Liberal party of British Columbia is concerned the years of opposition will be an advantage, if they are properly used.

The real danger to Liberalism here is not opposition but something much larger. The first fact which the Liberal party must face today is that it can destroy itself in the next few years, even the next few months. It can disappear as a significant force in our politics, just as the Conservative party already seems to be disappearing. The Liberal party's task is not to strike for office but to survive.

What has happened in British Columbia is not unique. It is only the local version of a process under way in all democratic countries, to the great damage of democracy. Politics is more and more split between the two extremes of right and left in a period of worldwide upheaval. The classic tragedy of the British Liberal party, ground out between Conservatives and Socialists, illustrates the dangers of all centre parties.

If Liberalism had nothing to offer in this kind of situation its extinction would be not only inevitable but unregretted. We believe that Liberalism as a principle (often denied and dishonored by its politicians) has more to offer now than ever.

Whether Liberalism as a principle operates through the Liberal party or some other it is the only force in democratic politics which can hope to reconcile the extremes, to compromise the conflicts now dividing society, to assure steady progress between radicalism and reaction, to heal and not to wound. The Liberal party in British Columbia will survive and finally return to power if it holds to its principles and fights for them without regard to temporary political advantage. If it abandons its principles merely to make votes here and there it will never regain its old strength and may easily wither away as the Conservative party has withered in Saskatchewan, Alberta and probably in British Columbia.

The immediate task of the Liberal party is centred in the legislature. There, despite its small numbers, it can be a decisive fulcrum when its six votes may well determine the life or death of the temporary government.

The Hopeful Democrats

UNTIL SOME MONTHS AGO IT WAS widely thought that the Republican convention, in choosing a candidate, would almost automatically choose the next President of the United States. That same assumption failed in 1948. It could easily fail again. After serious reverses, internal quarrels and scandals, the Democratic party is preparing confidently to win its sixth consecutive election.

As against the age of the present administration and its recent troubles the electoral mathematics of American politics favor the Democratic party for two reasons.

It is the first place, there are more Democrats than Republicans among the voters. No one knows the figures exactly, but the Democrats have a lead of several million votes among regular party supporters.

Secondly, as the legacy of the Civil War, the Democratic party always controls the southern states and a varying number of border states. It can reasonably count on 175 votes in the electoral college (which in theory chooses the President) from the southern Democratic area. It needs 266 electoral votes to win the Presidency.

When the Democrats have more than half that number in their pockets before the election begins their advantage is obvious. In 1948 the revolt of southern Democrats against Mr. Truman lost the party 39 southern electoral votes but that split apparently has been healed by the President's retirement. The solid south looks as solid as it usually has been since Lincoln's time.

If they hold the south, the Democrats

Women of Courage

NURSING SISTER GRACE WOODMAN, reportedly the first air force nurse to "hit the silk" in an airborne mercy mission in this province, failed in her objective to bring aid to an injured youth in rugged country northeast of Vancouver, but her attempt has added to the story of feminine gallantry in this part of the world.

The fact that her parachute caught on a tree and held her captive for hours high above the ground, no less than the tribute of a surveyor who watched her jump, have spelled out the risks she took.

This is another chapter to place beside the glowing record written by Public Health Nurse Alken Bond, and Nurse Amy Wilson of the Indian Department

At this writing the identity of that government is not known but whether it is composed of C.C.F. or Social Credit ministers it will deserve the temporary support of the Liberal party in carrying forward the orderly business of the province. The Liberal party would be foolish and suicidal indeed if it precipitated another election merely to make trouble for the government. On the other hand, if the government is unwise enough to advance policies which Liberalism cannot properly support, the Liberal members are bound to vote against them whatever the consequences. If they surrender their principles on vital issues they will surrender everything, including, no doubt, their chance of re-election.

In a situation so unprecedented, fluid and uncertain no one can foresee the day-to-day manoeuvres of a minority government and a legislature of splinters. The Liberal members themselves must decide how they shall meet the recurring spasms of a continual crisis.

But the Liberal members are only a small and superficial part of the Liberal party and it is in the substance of the party, not in the legislature, that the future of Liberalism will be decided.

In the last six months the Liberal party has made a pretty dreadful spectacle of itself, has publicly quarreled with its leader, has adopted a hospital insurance policy which he believes to be disastrous and, in short, has concentrated all its mind and energies on a futile attempt to win votes in disregard of principles. For this it has paid a high price, but not too high if the obvious lesson at last has been learned.

The time has come to end this confusion which threatens not the party's power in the legislature but its life in the country.

The Liberal party has been brought to this pass mainly by its professional machine, centred in Vancouver. That machine wrecked the Liberal government in 1928. Its control will always wreck any Liberal government in time. It is no accident that Liberalism has been utterly defeated in Vancouver and in the regions dominated by Vancouver while it has held its own in Victoria and made inroads into the traditional Conservative stronghold of Oak Bay. Here the party has no powerful machine, no skilled mechanics and no scandals. It has succeeded not through deals and arrangements but because the public has confidence in its integrity, above all, because it is based on the people at large and not on a centralized clique.

If Liberalism is to come back it must purge itself of those who have assured its defeat by promising it easy victory. It must find new leaders among the young for a long, uphill struggle. It must frame policies based on a long-run philosophy, not on short-run calculations of local votes. It must turn from the professionals of politics back to the people. After this fitful fever it must repair to its historic origins or perish.

need to win only 91 electoral votes in the 31 states elsewhere. In those same states the Republicans must win 252 out of 356 available electoral votes. This means that the Republicans cannot afford to lose many of the states outside the south. They must hold most or all of the big decisive states like New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, and California.

This the Republican party has been unable to do since 1928. The Democrats, based on the solid south, have always made sufficient inroads into the north and west to dominate the electoral college. They even scraped by when the south split four years ago and the dominant state of New York went Republican because Henry Wallace's abortive third party took half a million normally Democratic votes.

The mathematics of the electoral map thus are loaded heavily against the Republican party at the very moment when, as Senator Lodge said the other day, it simply cannot afford to lose another election after unbroken defeat since 1932.

Perhaps equally important, the united Democratic party faces an enemy divided as it has not been before in recent times. The breach between the Eisenhower and the wings of the opposition may open the doors of the White House to the Democrats again. To succeed, however, they must nominate a popular candidate. In Governor Stevenson, of Illinois, they seem to have discovered such a candidate. If they can persuade him to run their chances of a sixth term of office will be good in spite of all the political damage they have received in recent years.

who rushed from their headquarters in the Peace River District and Whitehorse respectively to help save the Indian community of Halfway Valley in December 1949 and January 1950. That small settlement had been stricken by an epidemic of diphtheria. Working under primitive conditions with negligible assistance, they achieved success.

Nursing Sister Woodman was less fortunate—yet her failure was not from want of trying.

They are fine stories, these—epics of heroism by members of a fine profession whose courage reminds us of the frontier still to be conquered in British Columbia and of women here who are prepared to assist in meeting its challenge.

LOOSE ENDS

The General

BY BRUCE HUTCHISON

AMERICANS WHO are increasingly asking in their publications the difference between themselves and their curious Canadian neighbors would have found a part at least of the answer if they had been up here the other night when General MacArthur delivered his Philippine to the Republican convention.

The convention was enthusiastic, just this side of hysteria, at the General's speech. To Canadians, I am willing to wager, the speech seemed to fall flat on its face. Now it will be said that of course MacArthur is not our General and naturally, therefore, we cannot become as excited about him as his own people. But suppose any Canadian statesman, a soldier made a speech like that, how would it be regarded in Canada? It would ruin the political prospects of the speaker and probably sink his party as well.

NO CANADIAN would make such a speech. Probably no Canadian could make it. The look of Caesar, the rolling rhetoric, the grand gesture, the purple passage, simultaneous appeal to God and the high standard of living, the mystique of power all are alien to Canada.

That is not to depreciate the art of oratory. It is only to say that we don't like it much and we don't elect orators. This single fact represents not a superficial but a fundamental difference between us and our neighbors. It involves the mind as well as the vocal chords. It involves character as well as manners.

The American character for some obscure reason loves a great show and the Canadian instinctively suspects it. No statesman who made a great show ever succeeded long in Canada. Our most successful leaders were those who resisted the temptation to make a show, who knew the power of silence. One might say, indeed, that the power of sound is strongest in the United States while the power of silence is the paramount power of Canadian life. Which is the better one would not care to argue but the basic difference in character is as clear as the difference between a shout and a whisper.

IT MAY BE SAID also that the American people are always better than their politicians make them appear. Were the American character written in the image of their political oratory, if the political convention truly represented American life, we might well despair. In fact it does not. The Americans always rise above their politics.

On the other hand, great as they are and politically wise beyond all others, the British people, or any other people for that matter, cannot possibly be as wise as the lofty utterances of the British Parliament would seem to indicate. In Canada the outer surface of politics accurately represents the mean temperature of the nation and that temperature is always low. The climate of our mind, like that of our land, is cold, sub-Arctic and exceedingly dull.

THIS MAY BE a good thing or bad but at least it indicates the basic distinction between Canadians and Americans. In a single speech General MacArthur, quite unwittingly, draws the deep, invisible line of the forty-ninth parallel. No man of his sort can cross it, just as one supposes that the inarticulate statesmen of Canada would be hopeless failures in the United States.

All this goes back a long way. The American nation was born in pomp and ritual, with the noble Declaration of Independence, a rousing convention and finally a written constitution. Whereas the Canadian nation was born in a hotel room, with much more alcohol than oratory and confirmed by the act of an over-seas Parliament.

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE, feeling quite rightly that they were the hope of mankind, struck an attitude from the beginning. The Canadians, having no hope of leading the world and wondering if they could even hold their own land, did not attempt to hold aloft a torch. Their hands gripped a plow and an axe as they strode silently into the jungle. The American Founding Fathers wrote imperishable prose. The Canadians wrote the British North America Act, which only a few lawyers have ever read. The Americans idolize a MacArthur and the Canadian, watching him across the border, stare in dumb wonderment and are unmoved as he huris his thunderbolts.

IF ANY CANADIAN tried to hurl them he would not dominate a political convention. He would not even be elected mayor of Moose Jaw. But an American convention is exciting to watch and we watch it with the assurance that the American people really are not like that.

No Neutralism In Netherlands

THE RESULT of the "neutralist" campaign in Holland has been poor, reports the Netherlands Information Service following a recent vote analysis.

The total percentage of voters who, following the advice of the neutralist weekly "De Groene Amsterdammer" voted for the seventh, instead of the first candidate on the party lists of their preference, thereby demonstrating their disagreement with the Government's Atlantic and rearmament policy, was about 0.5 to 0.75 per cent of the total votes cast.

A so-called "Socialist Union" with a completely "Bevanist" ticket received only 0.34 per cent of the total votes cast and did not succeed in gaining a seat in parliament.

The neutralist failure reflects the general sentiment about the "cold war" in Holland. This sentiment was best expressed in March, 1951, when the labor unions accepted a 5 per cent rise in wages in order to permit the government to realize its newly-adopted rearmament program.

The Communist party's strength went down from 10.6 per cent in 1946, 7.74 per cent in 1948, 6.9 per cent in 1949, 6.8 per cent in 1950, to 6.16 per cent in 1952. Its number of seats in parliament decreased from eight to six.

New Plea for Bilingualism

FOR MORE than a generation French has been the favored "foreign" language taken by students of Greater Victoria High Schools.

Its selection has been honest and based on sound principles. British Columbians are occasionally reminded that as Canadians, they belong to a bilingual country. The other official language is French, with some possible variations from that spoken in France itself.

Class after class has "taken" French in high school here—often as a child takes castor oil. And class after class has completed its course in that subject with little apparent value. If French has been the most popular of "foreign" language courses, it has also been one of the most easily forgotten.

NEW PROPOSAL

To the obvious merits of mastery of that tongue for purposes of broader Canadian understanding, another argument has been added. Writing for Unesco Features, interpreter Pierre Aubrey champions bilingualism on a broader scale.

Following is the case he presents: A common world language has not yet come into its own and present political considerations suggest that it is not likely to for some time to come.

Yet the use of a common language would undoubtedly prove to be one of the most effective ways of hastening the establishment of a unified and peaceful world. A language understood by everyone would also assist the development of a truly universal culture to which all peoples would make their contributions.

It is premature to forecast the exact form which this means of international interchange will finally take, but among the proposals already made there is one worth studying. Bilingualism, as this is called, is the idea of a young Frenchman, Jean Marie Bressand, who has spent much of his life abroad.

Bressand has suggested that each nation should adopt, in addition to its own tongue, one other living language which would progressively be made a compulsory subject in schools and eventually become a general language for world communication.

The choice of this language would be made from among four widely used languages: English, Spanish, French and Russian. Through a referendum, the people of each country where, for example, one of these languages is in daily use, would be asked: "Apart from your own national tongue, which of the three others would you choose as a common language?" The voting figures of the different peoples would determine the final choice.

Already, to demonstrate that the idea is not a Utopian one, Bressand has suggested that a beginning should be made with English-French bilingualism. The Foreign Affairs Commission of the French National Assembly has supported this proposal and has urged the French Government to contract agreements with the American and British Governments aimed to encourage English-French bilingualism.

The same resolution also calls for contacts to be made with appropriate international organizations and interested governments so as to aid the extension of these agreements to all countries where English or French is spoken.

Other countries wishing to join this linguistic community could, the French resolution suggests, sign an international convention under which they would undertake either to foster the everyday use of French and English in their countries or to opt—preferably all at the same time—for one or other of the two languages.

There is no lack of objections to this plan which would, however, enable the Western world to partially resolve the language problem involved in mass communication through the written and spoken word. It would also constitute a firm defence against the debasements of "pidgin" languages.

While this initiative to create "Bilingualism" is for the moment a French one, a similar movement is now developing in England. Many British educators favor French as a second language and maintain that it should become part of the school curriculum even before the stage of secondary education is reached.

In Paris this month, "Le Monde Bilingue" (The Bilingual World) Association is organizing an international gathering of men and women who believe that a common language is a practical method for building the peace.

Quebec Education

Le Canada, Montreal

IF SCHOOL attendance of children between seven and 14 in Quebec is comparable with that in the other provinces, on the contrary that of boys of from 15 to 17 is lower. On the average, the population of the province of Quebec has fewer years at school than anywhere else in Canada. On this point long statistics could be cited, which should make Mr. Duplessis, . . . ashamed. Let us confine ourselves to emphasizing that the number of students in the universities of the province of Quebec is half that of Ontario with a 9.10 population. The public libraries of Ontario contain five times as many volumes which circulate 13 times as fast. Everyone knows that the pay of the teachers of Quebec is the lowest in Canada and that even in our province Protestant teachers earn more than their Catholic confreres. The pension scale of men and women teachers is still on the 1940 rate.

Strike Damages

Globe and Mail

An arbitration board has ordered the United Electrical Workers to pay the Canadian General Electric Company $3,208 as damages which resulted from an illegal strike. The strike took the form of "spontaneous work stoppages" neither ordered nor authorized by the union. But, as the union did nothing to prevent the strike in spite of a no-strike clause in its contract, the arbitration board held it liable for actual damage suffered. No penalties were added.

Closing Up for a Vacation Trip?

LAST AUTUMN a long-headed subscriber to the Victoria Daily Times wrote a short item for this newspaper advising readers how to close their summer camps for the season. The advice was excellent. It was published for the benefit of summer camp owners.

Doubtless it was clipped out of the page and put away somewhere to yellow, curl and act as a mid-winter reminder of what the summer camp owner should have done when he closed his camp a few months earlier.

Now the firm of Carl Byoir and Associates, Inc., of Hamilton, Ont., has circulated a companion piece to our subscriber's item. It's called "Ten points to check when closing house for the summer." That's the town house, with its modern conveniences.

AND TURN OUT THE LIGHT

The advise homeowners buttoning up their homes for the summer to:

1. Arrange to have gas, water and electricity shut off.
2. Disconnect the refrigerator, defrost and clean it and leave doors open for airing.
3. Check the roof for leaks and repair before leaving. Also clean leaves from gutters and downspouts.
4. Clean out the furnace and lubricate moving parts. If it's an automatic oil burner, call in your serviceman to condition it so it will be ready for use next winter.
5. Remove dangers of spontaneous combustion by cleaning up piles of rags, cloths and rubbish and removing old paint, oil or gasoline cans.
6. Lock securely all doors and windows, particularly those in the cellar, but do not draw blinds. This calls attention to the fact that the house is not occupied.
7. Discontinue delivery of milk, have newspaper forwarded to you, and if you're going to be gone for at least two weeks, temporarily discontinue the phone service and take advantage of the reduced rate.
8. Make arrangements for someone to mow the lawn and water the shrubs.
9. Leave a key to your house with a neighbor for use in an emergency.
10. Notify the police, particularly if you live in the suburbs, that you are going away. They'll keep an eye on your house.

WITH A WARNING

The Times passes along the list as a public service, with a warning.

Don't be too enthusiastic about the last part of Clause 7. Don't bother temporarily discontinuing phone service to take advantage of the reduced rate. There's no reduced rate. And discontinuance, it appears, means disconnection. Disconnection means a polite—if you wish it that way—negotiation between you and the phone company to see where your name will go on the waiting list for service. It can mean restless months unmarked by the domestic ring of a telephone bell. And it can mean considerable inconvenience.

Mr. Byoir and Associates should have pointed that out. The other suggestions, though, seem reasonable enough.

NO VACATION WORRIES

Under certain circumstances, they can eliminate the whole problem of the vacation.

When you've looked over your roof, checked it for leaks and made arrangements for repairs, when you've done the same with your furnace, when you've done the clean-up work suggested as a safeguard by Mr. Byoir and Associates—when you've done all these things or contemplated their costs, do you think you can spare the time or the money for a vacation?

If you think you can, why go ahead, have a good time. Use Mr. Byoir's check list. But don't be crossed up by that telephone service discontinuance. Mr. Byoir doesn't understand our little domestic problem.

Authentic Voice Of Intelligent U.S.

London Free Press

JOHN DEWEY, philosopher and educationist, who died in New York at the age of 92, was the authentic voice of intelligent America. So sound was his thinking, so sensible his doctrine on pragmatism, so clear-visioned his view of the need for intelligence that he was read the world over and accepted as a universal teacher. From his teachings have grown the school of progressive education and "learning by doing." He was the champion of a liberal and ideal democracy, a courageous crusader for the betterment of mankind.

His multitudinous writings deal with all aspects of American life—the "American way." He looked at this civilization from the standpoint of a practical, working citizen of a developing democracy, and he said two things which today have peculiar application.

"With tremendous increase in our control of nature," he wrote, "in our ability to realize nature for human use and satisfaction, we find the actual realization of ends, the enjoyment of values, growing unassured and precarious." He also wrote: "The bad man is the man who, no matter how good he has been, is beginning to deteriorate. . . . The good man is the man who, no matter how morally unworthy he has been, is moving to become better. Such a conception makes one severe in judging himself and humane in judging others."

Socrates and Dewey held that intelligence was the highest human virtue. The problem is how to enable man to achieve it. The one thing universally good, said Dewey, was growth or evolution—the enduring process of perfecting, maturing and refining. It is a long, difficult process. Wars and economic crises are two of the many courses by which man will one day graduate to that higher intelligence whereby he will solve his domestic problems by strikes, his political problems by "politics," or his world problems by war.

PRAIRIE ROUNDUP

Aircraft Cover 70,000 Square Miles in Search for Lost Bomber

EDMONTON, July 10 (CP)—Twenty-five R.C.A.F. aircraft unsuccessfully scoured the rugged Yukon wilderness Wednesday for a Mitchell bomber missing for 10 days with four men aboard. The full-scale search was resumed after a 24-hour layoff caused by bad weather. Search aircraft now have covered almost 70,000 square miles. Most of the area where the downed aircraft is believed to have crashed has been covered between two and four times.

An air force spokesman said the search will continue until every lead is exhausted. The Edmonton-based bomber disappeared while on a routine training flight from Whitehorse, 1,000 miles northwest of Edmonton.

Manitoba Plans Disaster Fund

WINNIPEG, July 10 (CP)—Trustees of the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund will ask permission to turn over $1,449,225 to a national disaster fund at a special session of the Manitoba legislature called for July 22. The money remains from $9,196,920 contributed after the Winnipeg floods in 1950. Some $7,750,000 was paid out in more than 35,000 claims.

The special session has been called to discuss provincial hydroelectric problems and financing new power dams.

Embargo End Seen

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., July 10 (CP)—Some U.S. livestock dealers are buying cattle in Eastern Canada in anticipation of an early lifting of the U.S. embargo on Canadian cattle, W. G. Weir, Liberal member of parliament for Portage-Neepawa, said Wednesday.

Speaking at the opening of the 80th annual Portage la Prairie fair, Mr. Weir said: "We have friends in the United States just as anxious to have the embargo lifted as we are."

Rodeo Winners

CALGARY, July 10 (CP)—Top United States and Canadian rodeo riders turned in sparkling performances as the race for top money in the 1952 Calgary Stampede reached the half-way mark. Pint-sized Deb Copenhaver, veteran rodeo contender from Spokane, Wash., turned in the best ride of the week in the second round of the North American saddle bronc riding contest.

Padget Berry, of Yuma, Ariz., came up with the fastest steer decorating time of the week, and C. M. Coffey, of Miles City, Mont., cut nearly four seconds from the calf-roping time that won first money in the opening go-round.

Copenhaver garnered 353 points, three more than the mark that won first go-round money. Berry whipped down to the horns of a racing longhorn in 3.4 seconds. Coffey was only 1.6 seconds off the all-time record when he slipped a noose over a calf and tied it up in 14.9 seconds.

Ted Warhol, of Billings, Mont., is leading the Brahma bull riders with 354 points. Jack Hartell, of Strathmore, Alta., won the wild horse race and Slim Jans, of Lashburn, Sask., won the wild cow milking contest.

Vancouver Island Called Canada's 'Loveliest' Spot

Vancouver Island is brought into range for all Canada to view in the July 15 issue of Maclean's Magazine.

In an all-embracing essay on "the loveliest corner of all Canada," Stuart Keate, publisher of the Victoria Daily Times, tells Maclean's readers about the island's history, its industries and its people.

He boasts of the loyalty islanders have for their home and describes in some detail the climatic conditions and the playground places. To keep the ledger balanced, he complains about the lack of roads and ravaged sections of countryside where industry has hit hard and made no restoration.

The author tells about the current two-sided battle between conservationists and industrialists over damming of Buttle Lake and describes as well George Bonner's one-man war against the E. & N.

Many other well-known island figures come into the article. And to make the story complete, the author even divulges the outlandish goings-on at an up-island loggers' shindig.

Four Boy Scouts today chose as their "good deed" the mowing of lawns, trimming of edges and general tidying up of grounds at Spencerhouse, Art Centre of Greater Victoria.

They were Don Ethell, Barry Satton, Clive Wright and "Red" Frampton.

All-Out Work Program at Oakalla

VANCOUVER, July 10 (CP)—An all-out work program which will place 700 prisoners at Oakalla prison in various jobs is the first of many innovations to be instituted by the new warden, Hugh Christie.

"When men are idle they have time to plan and work toward such things as smuggling dope into the prison," he said today. Hitherto, only one-third of the prisoners has been working.

He said that his work program was of the complete answer to the prison's narcotic problem but that it was a step in the right direction.

He will also abolish the practice of allowing up to 300 prisoners in the exercise yard at one time.

"They have too much opportunity to mingle and pass all sorts of contraband under the present system."

Vocational training, library facilities and the recreational program will be extended.

RUDE RUBE SNAPS NUDES—FIRED

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., July 10 (AP)—Women patrons of the city swimming pool have been secretly photographed in the nude through a two-way mirror, city manager Leroy F. Harlow revealed today.

Harlow announced that consequently he had fired James D. (Doc) Young, city aquatic director and prominent figure in swimming circles.

The city manager said pictures of nude and partly nude women were found in a locked closet and that they had been snapped from the closet through a two-way mirror on the wall of a women's dressing room.

Young said he had not taken the pictures.

NEAR-TAME PARK BEAR CLAWS VISITOR'S ARM

INVERMERE, B.C., July 10 (CP)—Denzil Maxwell of Cranbrook had 30 stitches taken in his arm after being clawed by a bear at Kootenay National Park. He also suffered heavy loss of blood.

Mr. Maxwell and his family drove through the park and stopped to watch occupants of other cars feeding several near-tame black and cinnamon bears, the "professional bums" of the park.

None of the Maxwells left the car. Mr. Maxwell's arm was resting on the open window when he suddenly felt a tearing pain and saw a big black bear clawing his arm. In his struggle he accidentally pressed the car's horn. The noise frightened the bear away.

INCOME FOR LIFE

Queen's Grant Gets Approval

LONDON, July 10 (CP)—The House of Commons Wednesday night decided it will grant the Queen an annual income of £475,000 for life.

The endorsement went unchallenged. No vote on the proposals as a whole was called, because the Commons' feelings on the civil list proposals presented by the government were made clear in a series of votes on detailed allowances for the Queen and her family.

The Commons rejected 239-211 the Labor Party proposal that the Queen's grant should be reconsidered every 10 years to keep an eye on Royal spending.

This proposal was put forward by Opposition Leader, Clement Attlee.

An amendment from two left-wingers which would have sliced by nearly half the Queen's income was defeated 344 to 25.

The proposals now will be presented to the Commons in the form of a bill. Of the money to be paid to the Queen all but £60,000 is intended to meet the out-of-pocket expenses of running the pageants and palaces of the monarchy.

The official Labor Party plan to deprive Prince Charles, 2½-year-old son of the Queen, of his proposed annual income until he is 18 was defeated 231 to 197.

The Commons also brushed aside 313 to 56 a Labor rank-and-file members' proposal to quarter the allowance of £40,000 a year proposed for the Duke of Edinburgh.

The government had proposed to raise Princess Margaret's annuity from £9,000 to £15,000 when she gets married. Five Labor members challenged this but were defeated 258 to 112.

The government proposals were drafted by an all-party committee, which did not report unanimously on all points.

The committee had recommended that Prince Charles should have an estimated total of £150,000 until his 18th birthday. The money would come from the Duchy of Cornwall revenues.

Timely Rains Improve Prairie Crop Outlook

OTTAWA, July 10 (BUP)—Prairie farmers could look for a bumper grain crop today as heavy rains ended the threat of drought in many areas of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics said in its eighth crop report that "crop prospects throughout the prairie provinces are generally good to excellent."

The bureau said that timely rains had improved crop conditions in many areas where the threat of drought existed. Further rain still is needed, however, in most of the west to "satisfy heavy moisture requirements of the thick stands of grain."

The bureau said compared with the past two years crops in the three provinces now are well advanced for this date. In addition, damage from insects and other causes has been light so far this season, although moderate to severe hail losses have occurred in some localities.

Conditions were nearly ideal for crops in Manitoba last week, and the general outlook has improved greatly, the bureau said.

Appearance and growth of crops in Saskatchewan continues to be "very satisfactory," the bureau said. Wheat averages 19 inches in height and coarse grains 16 inches. About 80 per cent of the crops are in shot blade and 33 per cent headed out.

Although moisture conditions are good generally, further rain is needed to replenish reserves being depleted by the heavy stands of grain. Little insect damage, including grasshoppers, has been reported to date.

Moisture conditions in Alberta range from good to excellent with the exception of the extreme north, where more rain is needed. However, lower than normal temperatures have retarded growth in the west central area of the province.

Both Ike, Taft Back Win the Peace Republican Foreign Policy Plank

CHICAGO, July 10—The resolutions committee of the Republican national convention Wednesday night offered a foreign policy program which it said would "wage peace and win it."

In a bitter indictment of the Truman administration, the committee declared that the peace won in the Second World War had been lost because those in power have—in fact had no foreign policy.

The committee would pledge the Republicans to a foreign policy of co-operating with friendly countries to re-establish freedom in the world. It demanded greater emphasis on the Far East which it said Stalin has long recognized as "the road to victory over the west."

On the hot issue of civil rights at home, the committee said it believed the federal government should take "supplementary" action within its "constitutional jurisdiction to oppose discrimination against race, religion or national origin."

Southern delegates had opposed a party pledge to push federal action on the racial problem.

The civil rights plan left the door open for possible compulsory action against employers discriminating against negroes and other racial groups in the hiring and firing of workers.

The foreign policy plank made this promise: "We shall encourage and aid the development of collective security forces there (in Western Europe, as elsewhere, so as to end the Soviet power to intimidate directly or by satellites and so that the free governments will be sturdy to resist Communist inroads."

It said "tragic blunders" had grown out of secret agreements made by the Roosevelt-Truman administration at Tehran, Yalta and Potsdam.

It declared that "with foresight," the Korean war would never have happened.

The foreign policy plank has been approved by both major candidates for the party's presidential nomination—Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

FISHERMEN HIT JACKPOT, BOAT FIVE IN SIX HOURS

Local anglers J. Jewsbury and George Wale hit a once-in-a-lifetime jackpot Wednesday morning at the Goldstream end of Saanich Inlet.

Between 6 in the morning and 12 noon, the fortunate pair hooked and boated five salmon weighing 19, 18, 12, 10 and nine pounds, a total of 68½ pounds of fish in six hours.

The fish were taken on a Tom Mack spoon trolled on 250 to 350 feet of line.

Most of the fish were taken just off Whittaker Point.

Another former champion tumbled in first round match play when 18-year-old Bruce Cudd of Portland bounced out Ray Weston, Spokane, 5 and 4.

In the women's division, Edean Anderson of Helena, Mont., moved steadily along in defence of her championship, trouncing Mrs. S. Sylvester of Portland, 7 and 6.

EASY VICTORY

Patty Lesser of Seattle rubbed out Irene Church, also of Seattle, 8 and 7 for the widest margin posted in either division.

Guzman came out with a bloody lip. He hit it somehow.

Insurance Plan Covered 93% In B.C. Hospitals

In the calendar year 1951, only 7 per cent of the persons admitted to hospitals were not covered by hospital insurance, Premier Byron Johnson said Wednesday.

The premier gave the figure when announcing a $3,165,062 surplus in B.C. Hospital Insurance Service operations for the fiscal year 1951-52, ending March 31.

Also during the calendar year 1951, Premier Johnson said 70 per cent of the hospitals operated on firm budgets set by B.C. H.I.S. closed the year with surpluses totaling $100,000.

During the three years of operation of the B.C.H.I.S. about 90 per cent of registrants have paid the premium required under the Hospital Insurance Act, Premier Johnson said.

Up to the end of June this year, he said, about $57,500,000 has been paid to hospitals on behalf of more than 755,000 registrants who had received benefits under the plan.

John Dunbar Outstanding In Summer School Concert

BY AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

It should be a matter of pride to Victorians that a local artist, Wednesday, presented what will probably stand out as a top favorite among recitals in the Summer School series.

John Dunbar, with one of the most promising talents to develop in local studio in recent years, enchanted a packed auditorium, not only with a fine voice, but with the warmth of his personality and engaging stage presence.

The quality and range of Mr. Dunbar's repertoire is considerable, especially when one considers that his student days have never been long nor are they yet behind him.

His opening group was drawn from the classics, Handel and Bach, sound stuff with which the singer was on comfortable terms. There followed art songs, lieder, opera and folk songs.

Throughout Mr. Dunbar revealed the evenness of his development, both as an artist and a singer. The upper parts of the well rounded and vibrant voice are not entirely free; there is still work in front of the singer to perfect technique, but the organ he possesses, his personal attributes and the soundness of all he has done so far, give him every right to look forward to a career on concert stage and radio.

Accompanying at the piano was James Saunders.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Social Credit supporters point with pride to Alberta's unparalleled prosperity under that form of government. All B.C. now anxiously asks the question: If Social Credit comes, can oil be far behind?

Jim Doran recently returned to Victoria after living in Kelowna for a time. He reports that the Okanagan believes in a change, but with reservations.

"Each election, they elect a new party," he says, "but it always seems to turn out to be the same man."

An unkind observer of the political scene says the height of futility is a conservative trying to raise campaign funds.

A few weeks back—on Father's Day, to be exact—the petty officers' mess at H.M.C.S. Naden entertained a group of orphans.

A certain C.P.O. was duty officer the night before, and, instead of going home when he came off duty, he stuck around to get the party ready.

Then he stayed and had fun with the kids. During all this, he neglected to keep his wife posted on his movements, so, when he finally DID reach home, he was faced with the immortal question: "Where HAVE you been?"

"Out with a bunch of orphans," he grinned. Then the roof fell in.

Had a very pleasant visit last night from Bob Cruickshank, a member of the R.C.M.P. highway patrol out Colwood Corners way.

Which is as good an excuse as any to remark on the excellent job the patrol is doing. The men are polite, courteous and firm in their handling of traffic problems. I can't back up the statement with statistics, but I feel sure the Island Highway accident incidence is going down.

It's a fact that the Dominion Day holiday was accident-free along that stretch of road. And it is also a fact that, before the I.W.A. strike, overloaded logging trucks, a real accident menace, were being strictly checked.

The "mounties" deserve credit for a good job.

The morning paper reports: "A model gown of sage green lace with a hat of Milan straw, trimmed with sage green lace and velvet bows of matching velvet is the ensemble chosen by Mr. Wallace for the occasion."

No doubt the other men were sage green with envy.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

While in Calgary, Mayor C. I. Harrison attended the Stampede. He drove up to Banff to the headquarters of the Alpine Club, where he climbed Sulphur Mountain by way of the Alpine Look-out. He got home today.

Square dancing lessons opened at Willows Park Wednesday night and drew about 200 persons.

Sponsored by the Oak Bay Kiwanis Club, the lessons are directed by Archie Thomson, president of the Wagon Wheelers Dancing Club, and will continue through August.

Dancing on the green, sponsored by the Victoria Parks Department and the Y.M.C.A., gets underway for the third year at Central Park tonight at 8:30. The dancing, which includes instruction by Mrs. Gwen Joyce, will continue every Thursday night during July and August.

Motorist John G. Young, 1747 Haultain, was fined $200 in police court today on an impaired driving charge.

A report will be sent by the magistrate to the superintendent of motor vehicles. Fined $35 on a careless driving charge was Richard B. McKinney, 658 Niagara.

Both Sides Stand Pat In Labor Hostilities

There were no indications here today of any change in the labor-management stalemate which is tying up the lumber and construction industries throughout the province.

Those who had hoped for the Labor Relations Board to take new action to get negotiation machinery into gear were disappointed when the board announced Wednesday afternoon it had no further settlement proposals to make.

The board apparently is taking the same attitude as Premier Byron Johnson: that strike-settlement machinery is available but that it is up to the disputing parties to use it.

Labor and management sides apparently each has adopted the policy of waiting to let the other side make the next move so far as direct negotiations are concerned.

The Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council is going ahead with plans for a meeting to bring non-striking T.L.C. and A.F.L. tradesmen up to date on the present strike picture.

The meeting is scheduled for the Britannia Branch Legion Hall at 8 p.m. Friday. Principal speakers will be members of the striking carpenter and painters' unions, both T.L.C. affiliates, although two executive members of the striking C.C.L. woodworkers' union have also been invited to attend.

In Vancouver, police, acting on special orders from the chief, began patrolling all construction jobs being picketed by striking carpenters.

Chief Walter Mulligan said he issued the order "to prevent any breaches of the peace."

The order was prompted Wednesday by the first acute threat of violence since B.C.'s big industrial tieup began.

Police were dispatched to a city paving project being handled by a private contractor, after being told that picketing carpenters were "swearing and making catcalls at the workers."

One picket is said to have picked up a rock and threatened the workers.

CHURCHILL WISHES CATHEDRAL SUCCESS IN EXTENSION PLANS

Britain's Prime Minister Winston Churchill has sent a message to Victoria, wishing every success to Christ Church Cathedral's current campaign to raise $750,000 for extending the cathedral building.

In a letter to his friend, Canon E. P. Laycock, London architect who recently visited here in connection with plans for extension, Mr. Churchill recalled visiting the cathedral during the time it was under initial construction.

"I note that the addition of a choir and vestries is being considered, and I hope that your appeal for funds for this purpose will be speedily and generously met, and thus enable this great church to be completed," Mr. Churchill wrote.

The letter came from the Prime Minister's residence, No. 10 Downing Street, Whitehall.

Long Heat Spell Harmful To Saanich Berry Crops

The continuing heat is becoming a matter of concern to Saanich fruit growers.

While the hot weather has not adversely affected their raspberry and loganberry so far they point out that if there is no break in the weather, the fruit will ripen too quickly and result in a very short season.

Hot weather, without adequate moisture, tends to produce small-size fruit. Cool weather brings the large, lush berries.

Growers are looking for a few days of cool weather and would not be unhappy to see some showers.

"Usually we are pretty lucky," J. J. Young, manager of the Saanich Fruit Growers' Association, said today.

"As a rule we do have some cool weather during the season which allows the plants to revive."

Cherry growers in the district are happy about the weather. Cherry and other fruit trees which are well rooted are able to get sufficient moisture from deep soil to be safe during dry spells. The cherry growers' worry is rain, which would cause "splits."

PREACHERS, TEACHERS LEAD SOCREDS WHO WILL SIT IN B.C. LEGISLATURE

By GORDON FORBES

Three ministers, two school teachers, one former school teacher, several Parent-Teacher Association officials and a bus driver will be included in the Social Credit group in British Columbia's next Legislature.

The Social Credit party, which is currently favored to form the next government, found strong candidates in the church, and the teaching profession in this province.

The Social Crediters are not surprised, and point out that the founder of the Social Credit movement, William Aberhart, was a school teacher and deeply religious man.

"Our movement is a Christian crusade. We are not a political party," Socreds like to say.

So it was only natural, they add, that they should find suitable candidates among the clerics.

It was the Liberal members who found the clergymen tough competition on the hustings. The three ministers topped three Liberals with comparative ease.

Rev. P. A. Gagliardi, Kamloops, a minister of the New Calvary Temple, defeated Liberal Sydney Smith, who was considered a strong candidate by his party.

Two other ministers—now politicians—who carried the Social Credit banner to victory are Rev. Harry Francis, Similkameen, who ousted Liberal Maurice Finnerly, and Rev. C. W. Parker, Peace River, who will sit in Liberal Glen Braden's place in the House.

Rev. Gagliardi, 39, is of Italian parentage. He is married and has two children. He is an executive member of the Kamloops Board of Trade, and an official of the Pentecostal Assemblies.

The minister was the organizer of the Kamloops Boys' Hobby Shop.

Rev. Parker, a year older than Rev. Gagliardi, was born in Calgary and had two years' training under Mr. Aberhart. He is married and has four children.

Rev. Francis was born and raised in Victoria. He is married and has two foster daughters. The clergyman, an army veteran, saw service in Italy, Africa and Sicily.

The two school teachers who will be in the next Legislature are R. E. Sommers, Rossland-Trail, and W. D. Black, Nelson-Creston. They also tumbled Liberal candidates.

Mr. Sommers, born in Leduc, Alberta, in 1911, is a graduate of the Victoria Normal School. He is elementary school principal of Castlegar and Robson Schools. He is married and has four children.

Employed at various times as a logger, shipyard worker, roadworker and power plant employee, Mr. Black is now a school teacher at Creston. He is on the executive of the B.C. Teachers' Federation. He is a native of Vancouver.

The former teacher elected to the Legislature from Social Credit ranks is Richard New-prietor and owner of a grocery store in Vernon. For a considerable time he was director of the Vernon Youth for Christ group.

Kenneth Kirman, who defeated former Coalition Trade and Industry Minister L. H. Eyres in Chilliwack, was born in the Peace River, Alberta, in 1916, and is an army veteran who was discharged with the rank of sergeant-major.

He is married and has three children. He is president of the Greenleaf Parent-Teacher Association, and heads the Social Credit group there. Mr. Kirman is vice-president of the Chilliwack Automotive Association and a transport sergeant in the reserve army.

The new Okmea member, Cyril Shelford, is a farmer and is chairman of the Osoya Lake Flood Area. He also is a director of the local Farmers' Institute.

Thomas Irwin, now Social Credit member for Delta, succeeding Conservative Alex Hope, was born in Dumbarton, Scotland, in 1889. He is married and has two children.

The new member is secretary of the Canadian Legion at Cloverdale, president of the White Rock Ratepayers' Association, president of the Hospital Board of White Rock, and has been president of the Federation Community League, Edmonton. He is manager of the West Bank Co-operative Association, and once was a government hog-grader in Edmonton.

Ralph Chetwynd, elected in Cariboo, replacing Liberal Angus McLean, is a railway employee.

L. L. King, who bumped Agriculture Minister Harry Bowman, is a store owner, and J. A. Reid, who took the Salmon Arm seat away from the P.C.'s, is a logger.

Irvine Corbett, victor over Liberal Dr. J. J. Gillis in Yale, is a sawmill operator.

Two other Socreds are Eric Martin and Bert Price, Vancouver-Burrard candidates, who are being watched by the whole of the province. The Vancouver ridings have become the key to the whole neck-and-neck election.

EDUCATIONIST

Mr. Martin is vice-president of the Social Credit League of B.C. and a chartered accountant by profession. He is a former provincial education department registrar.

Educated in London, England, and Victoria, he is a native of Winnipeg and has lived in Vancouver 22 years. He is a past president of one of the Vancouver legion branches.

(In Friday's Times, a similar article on new C.C.F. members will be published.)

City's Draft Charter Ready

A 135-page preliminary draft of a bill for a private charter for Victoria was presented to city council meeting today by Arthur Patton, city solicitor.

When approved by the city in final form the bill will be presented to the next session of the B.C. Legislature.

If granted, a charter will widen the city's legislative powers. Council has felt for some time that the city is too confined by the four corners of the Municipal Act.

Contained in the draft is provision to make wage negotiations with firemen and policemen "arbitration" rather than "conciliation," according to Mr. Patton.

The change is designed to prevent unions from bringing in what Mr. Patton terms "extraneous matter" now allowed. It would provide for conducting proceedings "more or less along the lines of the general laws of evidence," Mr. Patton said.

"It is a step in the right direction," said Mayor Claude Harrison. "The time has arrived when we must have a charter and not be governed by laws applying only to a lot of smaller municipalities (Municipal Act)." Aldermen were presented with copies of the draft and invited to suggest amendments "within the authority which we could expect to receive from the Legislature."

Fire Chiefs Restricting Rubbish Burning Permits

First chiefs of Greater Victoria have clamped down on rubbish fires during the present hot weather.

Restrictions imposed—which could result in court action to violators—vary in the municipalities, but all are designed to reduce danger to life and property.

"There is an acute danger of something serious arising from rubbish burning at this time and we've taken action to meet the situation," said Fire Chief Joseph Law of Saanich.

"We are issuing no permits at the present time. Only those persons with approved drum incinerators with a screen who get year-around permits are permitted to burn anything," said Chief Law.

"No burning is being allowed in Oak Bay until the danger period is over," said Chief Ed Clayards of that municipality. Permits, however, are being issued for beach fires.

"We are allowing one-day permits only, but if conditions continue as they are now there might be a total closure," said Deputy Fire Chief James Bayless of Victoria.

In Esquimalt Chief Gilbert Stancombe is allowing rubbish burning on a laid-down pattern. He is permitting fires in the evenings provided residents use an incinerator with a screen who get year-around permits are permitted to burn anything," said Chief Law.

Two Will Go, Two Will Stay in Women's Golf Contest

Whatever happens today in the semifinal round of the British Columbia Women's Close Golf Championship at Colwood Golf Club, Victoria, will have at least one home golfer in the finals. Shown here relaxing this morning before they teed off in the semifinals are, left to right, Mrs. G. E. Harris (Victoria); Miss Babs Davies, defending champion (Vancouver); Dorothy Herbertson (Victoria), and Shirley Fry (Victoria). Winners of the two semifinal matches today will meet Friday in the 36-hole final for the championship.

Peggy Harris, Babs Davies In B.C. Final

Mrs. Peggy Harris of Oak Bay defeated Gorge Vale's Dorothy Herbertson 2 and 1 today for the right to meet Miss Babs Davies in the 36-hole final for the British Columbia Women's Close golf championship at Colwood Golf Club Friday.

Defending champion Babs Davies of Vancouver today advanced into the finals of the 37th annual British Columbia Women's Close Golf Championship at Royal Colwood Golf Club.

Miss Davies, shooting par golf, defeated 18-year-old Shirley Fry of Gorge Vale, 6 and 4.

Miss Davies, seeking her third consecutive championship, took a two-hole lead on the first two holes and never looked back. She was four up at the turn.

In a see-saw match in the other semi-final, Dorothy Herbertson of Gorge Vale rallied from a two-hole deficit at the fourth to go one up at the end of nine. Mrs. Peggy Harris, her opponent, won the 11th, 12th and 13th. Miss Herbertson the 14th. The 15th was halved in fours. Mrs. Harris won the 16th with a birdie four to take a two-hole lead.

Miss Sara L. Fraser Funeral on Friday

Last rites will be held Friday morning at 11 at McCall Bros. Floral Funeral Chapel for Miss Sara Louise Fraser, 930 Lyall Street. She died Wednesday, aged 74.

Miss Fraser is survived by six sisters, Mrs. T. Williams, with whom she resided; Mrs. Hannah Heighes of Victoria, Mrs. T. Grieves, Campbell River, and three sisters in Manitoba.

Ten more people can be accommodated on a Y.M.C.A. cruise to Salt Spring Island Sunday. The cruise ship, Lady Helen II, leaves Fisherman's Wharf at 9:15 a.m.

SILVER NOT POPULAR

American Coins Passing In Nervous Transactions

United States silver, usually accepted freely in Canada, is being passed from hand to hand hereabouts more quickly as holders get nervous about losing on the American coins.

With the higher premium on the Canadian dollar bill now more generally accepted in daily trading, many people have apparently been trying to avoid losses on small transactions in U.S. money by preferring U.S. silver which, so far, has been treated as if it were Canadian money.

Banks, too, are getting generous with their American silver.

Members of a city firm who cashed cheques at one branch bank Wednesday found that they got a liberal sprinkling of U.S. 50-cent pieces and quarters instead of Canadian change.

"I have been going into bank here once a week for the last 10 years," remarked one man. "In all that time, when the exchange favored American currency, I have received not so much as a thin American dime from a bank."

"Now that the shoe is on the other foot some banks seem to want it both ways... they kept the American silver when the exchange favored it and are now larding it out wholesale when the Canadian equivalent is worth more."

Another bank customer, on being handed an American 50-cent piece along with Canadian bills, thought he would be subtle.

"Would you please give me two quarters for this?"

He got the two quarters all right... but one of them was American.

City bank managers report that if they are passing out more U.S. silver these days than formerly, it is simply because customers have been turning in more each day with their daily cash deposits.

"If the flow of U.S. silver gets too heavy," said one banker, "we will have to start discounting it. But so far we have just treated it the same as Canadian coin. We did not send it to Seattle, like we regularly do with U.S. bills, to be changed into Canadian funds."

"The main reason we don't ship out U.S. silver," the bankers explained, "is that freight charges are higher and cancel out the exchange premium."

"Those American cartwheels (silver dollars) would cost a fortune to ship to Seattle. If they won't circulate freely here because people won't accept them then we'll simply have to discount them, more heavily than the bills, too, to cover the cost of shipping," one banker said.

Another new twist on silver currency problems brought on by the new high premium on Canadian dollars cropped up in Victoria Friday at the Empress Hotel. A U.S. tourist proffered his dollar note to the girl cashier and asked for four Canadian quarters in return.

"Will U.S. quarters do?" asked the cashier. "If that's the way it is," said the American, "the boy doesn't get his tip."

Long-Time Sooke Resident Passes

A resident of Sooke district for 30 years, George McIntosh, 1726 Haultain, died at home Thursday. He was 73.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 12 noon at McCall Bros. Floral Funeral Chapel, Rev. Robert Lytle officiating. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. H. Blythe of Kemp Lake, Victoria, and Mrs. Emma Eastwood, Prince Rupert, and one son, George, Jr., at the Victoria address.

Naval rating John Baloga, H.M.C.S. Naden, was fined $25 in city police court today after pleading guilty to an assault charge.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Found Aprons Galore In 'Heated' Travels

By PENNY SAVER

It was such beautiful weather when I went shopping this morning, I decided to spend a little more time in town and see if I could find some store I had not told you about before.

When I started out, I didn't realize how hot it was, and by the time I located a new haunt, I was nearly dropping!

As I opened the door and stepped into the shop, a fan waved a cool breeze at me and next thing I knew the lady who runs the store and I were sipping cold lemonade and discussing her merchandise.

What a treat it was!

During our conversation I learned my hostess is actually a dressmaker but besides making things to order for people she also specializes in aprons to sell in her shop.

"There is not an apron in the store that costs more than $2," she told me. "We buy only the best quality cotton and try to make them as novel, yet practical, as possible."

My hostess buys all the material from local stores and is not the least bit stingy with the trimmings.

She calls one of her most popular aprons a necktie style. It is so cut that the narrow individual gores widen and come to a point just like a tie. This apron sells for $1.65 and is trimmed with braid. An ideal shower gift.

Another style that I know you will like, resembles a peasant skirt. It is made of colorful cotton and trimmed with gay binding. The band comes to a point in the traditional manner and novel scoop patch pockets top the gathering. This apron is priced at $1.50.

For those who prefer a cover-up apron there are tailored ones as fine as you will find anywhere. This apron is also trimmed with complementary binding and is priced at $1.95.

For a dressy apron to wear when you have guests you'll find a white organdy styled with unpressed pleats is ideal. The white organdy is contrasted with patterned cotton. This one sells for $1.50.

A really novel apron is styled for knitting or even for clothes pegs. The whole apron is like one big pocket with two out-aways as pockets on the "pocket." This style is $1.25.

Besides all this, if you can't find the type of apron you want, you can have one made to order.

SALT SPRING NOTES

To Mark an Anniversary

Recently Dr. Arnold Francis and Mrs. Francis entertained doctors of Salt Spring and their wives with a short cruise on their yacht Arandee and a buffet supper at their apartment to mark Dr. Francis' 30th year of practice as physician and surgeon in British Columbia.

The apartment was attractively decorated with blue delphiniums and pink roses.

St. Andrew's Fete Gay Summer Affair

An air of festivity hung over St. Andrew's Cathedral grounds on Saturday as the parish summer fete got under way.

Stalls, decorated in the blue and yellow of the Catholic Women's League, were in charge of the senior subdivision, sponsors of the event.

The fish pond, one of the busiest stalls, drew both young and old. Prizes from the baby show went to 18-month-old Susan Maylor and nine-month-old David Mulcahy.

Tea was served on the grounds under a gaily colored canopy of flags. A delicious cold supper was served to a capacity crowd later in the afternoon.

Cool sage green lace was worn by Mrs. Clarence Wallace at the Government House garden party Wednesday afternoon. A shoulder cape and Milan straw picture hat veiled in the lace and trimmed with flat bows of green velvet completed the ensemble. Mrs. Wallace is pictured receiving United States Consul-General Robert K. Smyth, who came with Mrs. Smyth from Vancouver. In the background His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor greets Mrs. J. L. Clay.

Mrs. A. J. Marlow held a gay red and white parasol to keep hot sun away as she stood on the east lawn waiting to be presented, while Mrs. A. P. Hobbs, "Waylands," Royal Oak, used a large Chinese fan to create a cooling breeze. Mrs. Henry Cornwall is at the right of Mrs. Marlow. Nearly 2,000 guests shook hands with His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Wallace during the afternoon.

Tiny Dianne Barry, 2½, youngest guest at the garden party, found the short flight of steps leading to the lower lawn just to her liking and even as the strains of "God Save the Queen" rang-out across the grounds she was still happily running up and down the steps.

Chatting with Mrs. C. F. Genge, right, are Mr. and Mrs. A. Bristowe, who arrived two months ago from Essex, Eng., to make their home in Victoria. After going through the receiving line guests gathered in the shade of the trees on the lower lawn to enjoy afternoon tea. Refreshment marquees made a bright spot of color, the ropes twined with ivy and ground stakes concealed with bouquets of summer flowers. (All photos by Irving Strickland.)

THE DOCTOR SAYS Essential for Life, Salt Can Do Damage

In some parts of the world salt—that is the kind that makes up ordinary table salt—is in short supply, and is considered very valuable indeed. This is for the simple reason that salt, or sodium chloride, is necessary to maintain life.

The salt is kept in a constant proportion in the blood and tissues by a wonderful system of balance, and the amount of salt present in food or added in cooking or on the table is usually just about enough to make up for that which is lost.

More sodium chloride is lost from the body than is taken in, when there is heavy perspiration for a prolonged period of time. This occurs in certain industrial occupations, in hot weather and when there is heavy physical exertion.

Salt tablets or the addition of small amounts of sodium chloride to the drinking water may be used to replace an excessive loss of sodium chloride of this type. In some industries workers are encouraged to take a salt tablet with each drink of water, though this should not be done by those who have certain kinds of diseases.

In certain diseases the amount of salt taken into the body has to be limited. Too much salt either has a bad effect on the diseased organs or holds an excessive amount of water in the tissues of the body, thus causing the accumulation of fluid in the legs or abdomen.

Under such circumstances, the excessive salt is not eliminated normally but stays in the tissues. In order to maintain a constant

HEAT WAVE TOOK TOLL Vancouver's Penguins Put On Ice After One Expired

VANCOUVER, July 10 (CP).—Eleven sick king penguins, brought from the Falkland Islands in the Antarctic last week, Wednesday were housed in a refrigerator at Stanley Park Zoo. Food poisoning took the life of one of the rare birds during the night, another is not expected to live and the other 10 are "very sick."

Zoo director Alan Best blamed tainted frozen smelt food for the poisoning.

Another factor is the present heat wave, he said. The mercury was nearing the 80 mark when it was decided to move the birds into a big, walk-in refrigerator where the temperature is maintained at 34 degrees.

First warning of sickness in the penguin colony came when the birds began to lie down, which is unusual as they even sleep standing up when well.

They are the only penguins in Canada.

Rochon Upset In Net Tourney

QUEBEC, July 10 (CP).—Jim Bentley of Toronto, 20-year-old relatively unknown player, Wednesday upset veteran Davis Cupper Henri Rochon in the Eastern Canada Tennis Championships. Bentley, who plays during the winter at Modeste College near San Francisco, mastered Rochon's famed drop shot in tie-break round men's singles, 6-3, 6-8, 6-4.

Today he meets Jack Spencer of Montreal who upset Don Fontana, Toronto, 7-5, 6-2.

A win for Bentley will bring him against Lorne Main of Vancouver and Montreal in semi-final play.

Wartime Aviatix Here on Holiday

Maureen Dunlop, who flew with British Air Transport Auxiliary during the war, ferrying aircraft between R.A.F. bases and factories, is still in the flying business.

The Argentine-born flier is here for a holiday, visiting her aunt, Mrs. F. W. Lynn, 1708 Carriek Street.

Her company has huge holdings in the Argentine and uses planes to cover operations. Miss Dunlop, one-time B.A.T.A. captain, flies for the organization. She came north to buy another plane, and will fly it, with an engineer and radio man, back to South America.

Her parents' home is in the foothills of the Andes and there Miss Dunlop maintains her hobby—a herd of fleet Arab mares and a stallion. She's a breeder of thoroughbreds.

Spring Log Yield Higher for 1952

BRITISH COLUMBIA's timber scale up to the end of May this year totaled 1,953,664,192 board feet, compared with 1,593,424,754 in the same period last year.

In the Vancouver district, which includes Vancouver Island, the scale was 385,531,226 board feet, compared with 324,736,486 in the corresponding period in 1951.

BUILDING DEMANDS
STOCKHOLM (CP).—Sweden's consumption of cement, about 800,000 tons in 1942, more than doubled last year and still is increasing, official trade figures show. Skanska Cement, leading producer here, is increasing its capacity by 300,000 tons annually.

A Letter from Trudie from Seattle

Dear Daddy:
I had an awful time getting at these writing papers, because of places nearly all filled up. I am on board now, and it's awfully windy outside. There will be no show or moving pictures to see, so we sit and talk, blah... blah. Mummy & Auntie Doris are sitting on chairs over there, but I don't know what they are talking about from where I am, but I think Mummy is telling Auntie Doris that we had such a late dinner before we left that we'll just eat some sandwiches in the coffee shop, instead of going down those steps to where they have all that silver beside your plate & stuff to eat like you never get at home. I sure wish you were here, and didn't have to stay all day in the furniture business. You should have some chairs & sofa & things like they have on this rocky boat... Gee, they sure are pretty & I bet even fussy people would buy them. Sanny is sitting on one of them now, and when I get thru at this wobbly table I am going to go with her to get a Comic Book and some gum. I will try & send you a letter every day, because that is about all I will have to do, except pound the pavement all day. Remember when you got us those big black cherries when we went over here before. I hope we can find that same place & I hope to bring you back a present, but I don't expect too much. I hope you are feeling fine, and not lonely for us, as you have no beautiful women to look at (Mummy, Sanny and me). I don't see why I have to lug my coat around, as it's too hot, and I always leave it on chairs & places. Will you go up to my room & see if I left Panda sitting up... he won't want to be sleeping all the time we are away. Sanny says to tell you not to forget, just one tiny flake of Quaker Oats for the gold fish, and to change the water if you can catch them. As we took off from the dock I got a giddy feeling (funny). Wasn't that silly? Now I'm getting giddy some more because we're rocking about, and it's hard to write & Mummy is looking at me, sort of frowning. It's all better now though, so I think we will go & get the gum. We all hope to have a nice trip, & so does Auntie Doris, who is laughing now, so I will be saying goodbye till my next letter in the hotel. Lovingly Trudie, and Sanny is putting these crosses & loves under here.

TWO FOR THE SHOW

AA (Oscar class). BB (Worthwhile).
A (Don't miss). B (For rainy days).
C (To put in time).

By PHIL LEE

(A) PAT AND MIKE (Royal)

—Scripters Ruth Gordon and Garson Kanin whipped up a frothy yarn about a shady sports promoter and an unbelievably all-around woman athlete. M.G.M. gave the parts to veterans Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn. The combination proves as winning as Miss Hepburn's golf and tennis (and judo) which is good enough (to give you some idea of how winning the show is) to beat the best displayed by a covey of sports greats including Babe Didrikzen Zaharias, Gussie Moran and Helen Dettweiler.

Although the actual sports scenes are intensely interesting, it is the slow but sure, warmly developed love story between Brooklynese-speaking promoter Tracy of the pin-striped suits and the aristocratic lady athlete which goes to make "Pat and Mike" championship calibre. Tracy in his tongue-in-cheek role proves once again that he is a fine actor, while Katharine Hepburn, as thin as paint and twice as ravishing, is superb.

The story stems from Miss Hepburn of the faculty of education at a big college, trying to prove herself to herself. But her stuffy fiancé, William Ching, continually puts the hex on her at the 18th hole or at match point until Tracy takes over, making her a member of his "stable." This includes a race horse called Little Nell and a perfectly portrayed prizefighter whose brains are all in his fists, Aldo Ray.

"Pat and Mike" is supremely

INCREASED PENSIONS
—OSLO (CP).—The social affairs committee of the Norwegian parliament has approved increased old-age pensions. It also voted to raise the ceiling on tax-free earnings of pensioners and to extend benefits to alien residents.

directed and avoids with ease the many pitfalls it could have fallen into with disastrous results. It includes comedy, suspense, bedroom farce, sport, love and clean-cut, glittering lines. What might have registered only blah, re- straight and innate humor and the manifold talents of Hepburn and Tracy have turned into a most enjoyable evening.

SOCCER STAR REJECTS LUCRATIVE OFFER

LONDON, July 10 (CP).—Tom Finney, one of England's all-time soccer greats, has been offered a $10,000 bonus, a fabulous boost in salary, plus a sea-side villa and a car for signing a two-year contract with the Palermo Club of the Italian Professional League.

But Finney, who has starred for the last 13 years as outside right for Preston North End of the English first division, has rejected the tempting offer.

To Retain Trainer

LOS ANGELES, July 10 (AP).—Channel swimmer Florence Chadwick will have the same "team" with her when she tries again to conquer the distance between Catalina Island and the mainland in September.

Overriding an announcement from San Diego from her mother, Mrs. Mary Chadwick, that there will be a new trainer, Miss Chadwick said Bert Rovere, Los Angeles cafeman and a former Channel swimmer, will again be her trainer.

Florence said she appreciated her mother's advice but that she will win or lose on her own decisions.
